There are various guitar amplifiers and effectors repaired next the shop front. Every day arrives over 15 units with all kinds of repair needs. It has grown to more than 200 of them every month. As a repair of all makes and models, I am sometimes challenged with repairing units from an unknown maker, or one that no longer exists. As a result I have gathered numerous data and schematics over the years on rare models as seen on the shelves in the left-hand photos.

I spend a lot to keep a large range of necessities. I am looking to expand this part of my business further in the future.

My shop is often filled with hundreds of both new and quality second-hand amplifiers.

All the second hands amplifiers are repaired and ready for use.

The shop is usually filled with about 100 guitar amplifiers and bass amplifiers sell a choice of good amplifier and easy-to-use amplifiers. I maintain high standards, so I only accept well-made new amplifiers and will on occasion make alterations to units not upon standard. I sell very rare amplifiers still in good condition. I have many inquiries from all over Japan.

The history of the tube amplifiers and the guitar amplifiers is older than my life, evolves many hands of the manufacturers and the production parsons. However, there are few people who can repair the guitar amplifier widespread to the world and shops that can be repaired. Dr.Music is a company that can be able to do.

It is a meaning of the repair shop that can rely on most for customers.

That is an important field for us.

I experienced that the understanding of the company and the guest's demand were sometimes a little different inside the company section for after service. I changed it into the shop that was able to repair the company that father had established. I am a best repair shop in Japan.

I managed by a lot of customers and your cooperation. I always sincerely welcome your help.
